

Obama tours Lorain County Community College labs before town hall meeting

By Mark Naymik, The Plain Dealer

January 22, 2010, 1:36PM

Associated Press

President Barack Obama visits a wind turbine manufacturing and fabrication lab at Lorain County Community College in Elyria on Friday. (AP Photo/Charles Dharapak)

ELYRIA, Ohio – President Barack Obama stuck his head near the innards of a wind turbine during a tour of Lorain Community College's wind turbine lab. He was joined by Ohio Gov. Ted Strickland and college President Roy Church, who explained how students refurbish the wind turbines.

Then the president visited three students working in the college's Fab Lab, where they learn about fabricating various materials.